Summer term, 1st half – working from home

Home-‘worker’ Challenges... a few more activities this time.

Look in the ‘Shared’ section of Purple Mash: I will create a ‘Home-worker Challenge’ blog so you can post your creations on there for us to see!

[GDPR - just remember... no full names or faces, or I won't be able to approve & post them]*

Topic – ‘Oceans & The Naze’ (inc. Where we live) Have as little or as much help from an adult as you need.
World map maker However you wish to, create a map of the World – label the 7 continents and 5 oceans (you would have heard these mentioned in class – think of our table groups & reading groups). As an extra challenge – find out what ocean animals live in each of the oceans – add these to your map.	Royal reporter Has the Queen ever visited Walton-on-the-Naze? Or any other royalty? In our lifetime or before? Find out. If you find real facts and information use that, if not then make some up, I wonder what it would be like if she visited? Then using paper & pens, or Purple Mash create a News Report about the visit.	Meteorologist If you have a garden or balcony put some sort of vessel (like a jar, or blocked funnel) outside so you can make a rain gauge, to monitor how much rainfall we get. Keep a track of this, the daylight hours, and weather over this half term. Present this however you wish to – diary, chart, drawings, words etc. Your choice.
British map maker However you wish to (on the computer, drawn, painted, a model etc.) create a map of the United Kingdom. Label the 4 countries of the UK, the 4 capital cities and the surrounding seas.	Historian, of people Using books, the internet or information from people in your household find out everything you can about Arthur Ransome and why he is associated with Walton-on-the-Naze.	Sculptor Using anything you can find around the home, make a model of a UK landmark. Why not challenge yourself to make... a Walton landmark, and a landmark from each capital city of the UK (so, 5 in total).
Local map maker Create a map of the town you live in. Use symbols, similar to what you would see in a real map or make up your own.	Local Historian Find out whatever facts you can about historical events of Walton-on-the-Naze and/or Frinton. I know that once there was a flood big and dangerous enough that our school had to close! Maybe find out more about that?	Landscape Artist Using images you have from a local paper or leaflet (new or old) or the internet, create your best artistic masterpiece to represent a part of Walton-on-the-Naze. Maybe it will be amazing enough to go in an art gallery in the future, or be printed on a tourist leaflet.
Fact finder Find out between 5 and 10 facts about each of the capital cities in the United Kingdom.
Zoologist Find out about different water creatures that can be found living in or around Walton-on-the-Naze. You may have found evidence when you've walked along the beach, seen some yourself or heard of local tours. Draw or paint them if you wish, or even create a tourist leaflet yourself.	Quiz master Create a quiz from facts you find out about either Walton-on-Naze, Frinton, England, or our capital city London. Remember to write the answers somewhere too, so you can tell your quizzers if they are correct or not.	Problem solver I am curious... what is the difference between the ‘British Isles’ & the ‘United Kingdom’ – Why does it have 2 names? Find out how this came to be.
